Kinderschool Teaches Your Child

Everyone is a social equal
One decides for oneself
To speak up for oneself
There are consequences to making decisions
We cannot have freedom unless we respect the freedom of others
Without order there can be no freedom
It's alright to make mistakes;
They are the stepping stones to learning

We also learn:

To share, to listen, to finish what is begun
To put away when one is done,
To laugh, to cry, to let mom or dad go and accept what's so.
To contribute and participate, to feel courageous,
To kiss and hug, to be together and alone,
To help one another, care for one another
And above all, to love one another.
